

Weill Cornell Medicine
Sean Parker Institute for the Voice

Join Us!

Treating the Triple Threat: Managing the challenges of singing, dancing, and acting Jennie is a Los Angeles-based Osteopath and Psychologist who specializes in the field of Performing Arts Medicine. Originally from the UK, she is a former professional dancer, singer, and actor who combines her performance knowledge and healthcare training to provide targeted care for artists, including injury prevention and management, vocal rehabilitation, performance anxiety management, and performance coaching.

FREE Webinar

Please join the voice pathology team of the Sean Parker Institute for the Voice, with special guest, Jennie Morton, as they discuss the demands of the “triple threat” performers who balance singing, dancing, and acting.

Chandler Thompson

Scott Sussman

Christine Estes

Rachel Coleman

Join us online
November 4, 2019
5:30–6:30pm

RSVP by going to our Facebook page:

<https://www.facebook.com/SeanParkerInstitutefortheVoice/>

voice.weill.cornell.edu